Description

The Mitex Pro has a unique 'scan and trap' function which allows the user to scan the channels of another radio using UK Business Light frequencies, and then once a signal is found, the user can activate a further scan to trap the correct sub-tone (CTCSS/DCS/DCI); this can then be locked and saved to a new channel. This is a great feature for those that work on different sites or at different venues and need to keep in touch with a variety of users. The PRO retains the compatibility with all Mitex UHF hand-portables through it's pre-programmed channels and also allows monitoring of PMR446 frequencies so if you have a contract with users on license free you can keep in contact with these also. The Mitex PRO's 128 channel capacity certainly leaves plenty of scope for the user. The PRO also features a priority scan which allows continuous monitoring of one channel while still being able to transmit and receive on another channel. This is the ideal radio for customers who have varied fleets or do a lot of contract work with other users of radios. Easy licensing as standard on this model.
